Marijuana is legal in Alaska. Here are some things you need to know.

21

If you're under 21, it's illegal to use or possess marijuana.

Who is allowed to use marijuana?
Anyone age 21 and older can legally possess or consume marijuana. It is illegal to give marijuana to anyone under the age of 21, unless they have a valid medical marijuana card.

Marijuana can affect people differently.

Know your limits.
Marijuana affects everyone differently based on things like on body type and history of use.

Higher than you might think.

Careful. It can sneak up on you.
These aren't your grandma's brownies — THC levels can be much, much higher in today's marijuana products. And the effects of marijuana can be significantly delayed, particularly with edibles.

You can't drive impaired. Driving high is a DUI.

Don't consume and drive.
Driving while impaired is illegal. It doesn't matter what substance you are using. If you are not sure whether you are impaired, do not drive.

Do not use if you are pregnant or breastfeeding.

Marijuana poses a potential risk to the baby.
Steer clear if you are pregnant or nursing. Marijuana may be harmful to developing brains. Smoking marijuana or consuming edible cannabis products can expose your baby to potentially harmful substances.

Stash it safely away from kids and pets.

Lock it up.
If you have young children or teenagers at home, store your marijuana in a child-resistant container and make it inaccessible to them.

If children accidentally eat or drink marijuana, it can make them very sick. If you suspect your child has consumed marijuana call the poison control hotline at 1-800-222-1222. If someone has a severe reaction after consuming marijuana, call 911 or go to an emergency room right away.

Mushing in detail

Wheel dogs

Wheel dogs are placed directly ahead of the sled and tend to be the strongest dogs on the team.

Team dogs

Team dogs are the rest of the team that follow the wheel dogs.

Swing dogs

Swing dogs follow the lead dogs. They help set the pace and turn the sled around corners.

Lead dogs

One or two lead dogs are at the head of each team. They respond to the musher's commands, find and follow the trail, and set the pace of the team.

Musher

Mushers can be any age, sex or race. They relay commands to the team and sometimes run behind the sled to speed it along.

Sled

Older sleds are made out of wood, but modern ones are built of space-age materials like Kevlar and titanium.

Racing

There are two main types of sled dog races: sprint and long-distance. Long-distance races are those like the Iditarod and Yukon Quest. Mushers and teams compete to be the first to complete a set distance. In sprint racing, mushers race a course multiple times and racers' times are totaled at the end to determine a winner. The Fur Rendezvous and Open North American Championship are popular sprint races.

Change 4 the Kenai is a coalition that is united to work toward connecting our community. C4K is currently dedicated to understanding the local increasing prevalence of injection drug use and the dire consequences. We plan to implement harm reduction programs and to break the stigma of addiction within the community through education.
